SATURDAY APPOINTMENTS

Appointments and telephone calls are available to be 'pre-booked' with a doctor or nurse on selected Saturday mornings - usually, but not always, on alternate Saturdays. Whilst the appointments are open to all, they have primarily been designed to help those patients who find it difficult to get to the surgery during our normal weekday opening hours.

Saturday appointments can be booked in advance, with the dates available from Reception and published on our website.

Appointments for February 2024 are available on:

SATURDAY 10th February

SATURDAY 24th February

Please note that telephone lines and the reception desk will remain closed on Saturdays to all patients other than those who have a booked appointment.

(We do not routinely offer blood test appointments on Saturdays as there is no hospital collection service from the surgery at weekends. However, patients are able to drop off their blood sample themselves at the Norfolk & Norwich University Hospital if they have restrictive work commitments which mean they can only attend surgery for a blood test on a Saturday).
